Summary of reasons for decision:

This is a highly sexualised image of a female. The Classification Office has considered whether the publication promotes or supports, or tends to promote or support the exploitation of young persons for sexual purposes, and concludes that it does not. In the absence of any contextual information in the image itself that would indicate the age of the female subject, it present as a record of a young woman displaying her body. Nevertheless, the unrestricted availability of the publication is still likely to be injurious to the public good as it explicitly depicts highly sexualised nudity. There is a common social consensus across many countries that material such as this should be limited to adults because of the potential for harm to developing sexual attitudes and behaviours of young people from premature exposure to such material. The availability of this publication is therefore restricted to those aged 18 and over. This classification limits the right to freedom of expression as laid out in the New Zealand Bill of Rights Act 1990, but is the lowest reasonable limitation that can be placed on that right in order to prevent injury to the public good.
